WRANGLER ARMY DESTROYED BY SOVIET FORCE

Sebastopol Evacuated When
Anti-Bolshevist Is Attacked
From Two Sides.

OPENS DOOR TO CRIMEA

Large Quantities of War Supplies Fall Into Hands of Soviets.

By United Press Leased Wire
Constantinople — Unconfirmed dispatches received here today reported that Sebastopol, principal headquarters of Baron Wrangel, has been evacuated.

(Sebastopol is on the southwestern-most tip of the Crimean peninsula. It is more than 100 miles south of Per-ekop, the strategic point in the isthmus which Wrangel was trying desperately to hold against the advancing bolsheviks.)

According to the dispatches the soviet forces gained their entrance to the peninsula by crossing the frozen
sea of Azov to the eastward of the isthmus.

While Wrangel's men were engaged with the Red troops around Perekop, who launched attack after attack, the bolsheviks who had crossed the ice attacked them from the rear.

Fear was expressed that the Wan-gel's forces about Perekop were annihilated.

With the way thus opened the Reds poured into the Crimea practically unopposed, the dispatches indicated, only rear guard actions being fought by Wrangel's troops to cover reported evacuation of Sebastopol. Huge quantities of munitions were believed to have been destroyed by Wrangel or to have fallen into the hands of the bolsheviks.

An intimation of the impending disaster was received here when a great fleet of merchant ships left this port hurriedly, presumably for the Crimea to remove the refugees.

CHARGE EMPLOYERS FORM NEW UNION

Gompers Hears of New Scheme
to Establish Open Shop
in Industry.

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington—Employers have undertaken to organize non-union workers in an effort to establish the "open shop," according to information turned over to Samuel Gompers of the American Federation of Labor,
today.

Gompers was expected to lay this information before the executive executive council now in session here.
According to Gompers' reports, the employers have given the organization
the name of the "American Union."
Leading labor leaders here say they believe the employers are trying to put the open shop campaign on what they term a patriotic basis.

The organization, according to the reports to Gompers already has 50 branches in 250 cities and all but two states and 100 more branches
are in the process of organization.

A new committee to organize workers in the steel industry was completed today.

M. F. Tiethe, president of the Amer-icized Association of Iron Steel and Template Workers heads the committee. James Tierney was made secretary.

The new committee will meet in Washington January 15 and consider resuming the organization plans.
Conditions were reported as unfavorable for organizing now.

WANT CHAMBERLAIN TO BE SECRETARY OF WAR

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington—Some republican colleagues of President-elect Harding today started a boom for Senator George Chamberlain, of Oregon, a democrat,
as secretary of war in Harding's cabinet.

Chamberlain was chairman of the senate military affairs committee during the war and in the senate is giving credit for having done more than anyone else to get the war department
going effectively.

Harding is to be strongly urged by republican senators to appoint a
"sison pure" southerner to the cabinet.

BOY DIES IN MOTHER'S ARMS ON WAY TO HOSPITAL

By United Press Leased Wire
Milwaukee—A frantic mother rushed into the Emergency hospital here
early this morning with a bundle tightly clasped in her arms.

She fell into a faint as nurses reached her and took her burden.
It was her five year old boy—dead.

The boy, Edmund Kenderkski, became ill early in the evening and a physician pronounced his illness diptheria. At midnight the child went into convulsions and the father, Stanley Kenderkski hurried to a doctor.
The frantic mother, in the meantime, wrapped the boy in a shawl
and started for the hospital on a street car. He died on the way.

"MATTY" IS WINNING OUT

CHRISTY MATHEWSON

Saranac Lake, N. Y.—Christy Mathewson is winning his biggest game—
the fight against tuberculosis. Dr.
Packard, his physician, has informed
Mrs. Mathewson the chances are now in her husband's favor. Gas treatments, started late in August, have brought a marked change for the better in the condition of "Big Six." "His temperature is normal and he is gaining in strength," says Mrs. Mathew-son. Meanwhile, the months he has been sick have brought a tremendous volume of messages from bank presidents, diplomats, boys and everybody,
showing that the world hasn't forgotten the great baseball pitcher.

RESUME SEARCH FOR NAVY FLYERS

Abatement of Storm Gives Opportunity to Scour Lake Shore Again.

By United Press Leased Wire
Milwaukee—As the storm which raged over Lake Michigan for three days abated today, plans were being made to continue the search for three United States naval aviators missing
with their seaplane since late Wednesday. Some hope was held that the wrecked plane and missing men might have been picked up by a northbound steamer late in port because of the storm, but the search was chiefly to be for traces of the
along the shore between here and Manitowish.

Information here was that two army airplanes will leave Chanute field, Rantoul III, today in charge of Col. Reynolds and that Lieut. Leslie Walker, in charge of flying at Culver Military Academy, will leave Indianapolis, Ind., in a De Havilland plane to conduct the search.

Two other seaplanes from the Great Lakes naval training school are expected in Sheboygan, Wis., today to search out from the coast guard station there.

HUNGER STRIKERS GET FIRST FEEDING

Jail Physicians Use Every Modern Device to Save Their Prisoners.

By United Press Leased Wire
Cork—The nine Irish prisoners in the Cork jail, who abandoned their hunger strike yesterday in compliance with orders from the Sinn Fein were reported today to have "developed no unfavorable symptoms" as a result of the first nourishment administered to them last night.

The jail physicians, aided by specialists, have prepared every device known to modern science to save the lives of the prisoners, whose condition
was described as extremely grave.

Notices were posted on the doors of all newspaper offices here last night
that "if Griffin is not returned within forty-eight hours, Cork will remember his abduction."

The notices were signed "Black and Tans."

Griffin, who was warden of the jail,
was kidnapped October 10.

MRS. CHAPLIN AWARDED DIVORCE AND $200,000

By United Press Leased Wire
Los Angeles—Mrs. Mildred Harris
Chaplin will receive $200,000 through the settlement by which she obtained
a divorce yesterday from Charlie Chaplin, movie actor, it was reported
today.

One of the terms of the settlement
was that the name of Chaplin should not be used professionally by the former wife. The court approved other terms of the settlement providing for payment of $50,000 immediately
and $57,500 within a year, by the husband.

The divorce was obtained on grounds of cruelty, Chaplin was represented by an attorney.

WILSON NAMES 3 REPUBLICANS ON SHIP BOARD

Reorganization of Shipping Board Is Completed by Appointments.

ONE BADGER APPOINTED

Guy Goff of Milwaukee Is One of Three Republicans Selected.

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington—President Wilson today announced the appointment of five
new members of the shipping board.
The appointments are:

Frederick I. Thompson, Alabama,
democrat, for a term of five years;
Jos. N. Teal, Oregon, democrat, for a term of four years; Chester H. Rowell, California, republican, for a term of two years; Guy Goff, Wisconsin, republican, for a term of one year; Chester Sutton, Missouri, republican, for a term of one year.

Admiral W. S. Benson was designated to continue as chairman of the board and John A. Donald, New York, democrat, was reappointed for a term
of three years.

The new appointments make the political representation of the board
four democrats and three republicans.
Rowell, one of the new members, was one of the California republicans who bolled to Gov. Cox, during the campaign.

The appointments today complete
the reorganization of the board as provided in the Jones merchant marine act. The old board consisted of five members but there were three vacancies on it. Benson and Donald being the only members. These three vacancies, with the two new places, made necessary the five appointments announced today.

The members appointed to the new places probably will have to serve without salary, until congress can appropriate money to pay them. The last congress appropriated enough to pay five members of the old board $7-
a year but did not appropriate to pay the $10,000 a year salary which members of the reorganized board are to receive.

Shipping board policies, including
ship sales, have been awaiting the appointment of the new board. There may be a fight on the confirmation of some of the appointments in the senate.
The new personnel according to the Jones act, is made up of representatives of the entire country. Two members are from the Atlantic coast region, two from the Pacific coast and one each from the Gulf of the Great Lakes and the interior of the country.

If the republican senate refuses to confirm any of the appointments, the personnel announced today will serve only until March 4. The Jones act requires that not more than four members of the board may be from one political party.

CAN'T FIND BODY OF MISSING STEP-MOTHER

By United Press Leased Wire
Langdon, N. H.—County authorities today, continued their search on the farm of William B. Whitney on the result of the story of Whitney's 15
year old son, John, that his father
murdered his step-mother, Mrs.
Blanche Wright Whitney, four years ago and buried the body in an abandoned well.

The well which it is alleged the boy designated as the one in which the body was buried, was opened yesterday but the body was not found.

A swamp and another abandoned
well will be examined today.

The Whitney boy after telling his story to friends, repudiated it when questioned by the police.

William B. Whitney, the father of the boy, who was born by Whitney's first wife, is missing. He is under indictment for forgery. He was commissioner of highways and prominent in church circles.

SEEK BOMB CLEW IN GOTHAM LABOR FIGHT

New York—With the Lockwood investigation of building graft adjourned
until Wednesday, authorities today were continuing their probe of the theory that the Wall street bomb explosion was the result of a labor war
between rival house wreckers' unions.

Persons alleged to have seen or talked with the driver of the wagon
believed to have contained the bomb,
were questioned by department of justice operatives and city detectives.

William Zaranko, head of the union
mentioned in connection with the explosion, cooperated with the authorities in the investigation.

"Sealing Wax" Stopped Foe Attack, Foch Says

By United Press Leased Wire
Paris—"I put a bit of sealing wax
there, one there and another there.
The boche is almost stopped—I put another one there and the boche is fixed. One can always fix the boche."

That is how Marshal Foch, at a historic meeting in the little town of Doullens on March 26, 1918—at the heights of the German offensive—explained his favorite method of stopping the rushes of the enemy.
Stephanie Lauzanne writes in today's Matin.

According to the French journalist, it was at this meeting that the British and French agreed upon a unified command and the decision was suddenly reached to make Foch generalissimo of the allied armies, a decision which probably prevented a German peace.

General Foch, before this meeting,
General Pétain had expressed the fear
that evacuation of Paris would be necessary.

Premier Clemenceau came to Paris
to consult with President Poincare.
Their meeting took place while the enemy Gothaes were bombing the city.
The president told the premier "The question of abandoning Paris cannot be considered."

Foch, who had appeared at the meeting of British and French officials in Doullens without anyone apparently knowing just who had invited him, congratulated Poincare on his stand.

"Paris has nothing to do with it,"
the marshal told Poincare.

"Paris is too far away. It is where the boche is now that he must be stopped. He will be stopped, provided the order is given to stop him."

"Haag and Pétain are holding a two leaved door. Each is pushing his own leaf of the door which has been pushed slightly open now. Both are behind their respective leaves watching the enemy engulf himself without knowing how to close the door nor which must make the first start."

When Poincare entered the city hall, where Field Marshal Haag and Lord Milner were in conference accompanied by Foch and Pétain, he repeated what Foch had told him.
Haag then volunteered to defend Amiens, whereupon Foch leaped to his feet and struck the table exclaiming:

"No marshal, it is not Amiens. We must win before the boche reaches Amiens. We must win where we are."
Clemenceau, after a conference, announced Haag had agreed to accept orders from Foch and proposed that Petain do likewise. Pétain accepted.

HARDING IS SURE OF TURKEY DINNER

Bad Roads Leave President-
Elect Stranded in Little Texas Town.

By United Press Leased Wire
Point Isabel, Texas—Almost impassable roads, following a twenty-four hour rain left Senator Warren
G. Harding virtually stranded on Point Isabel today.

Fishing was made impossible by the heavy norther which has raged two days. The president-elect had planned a day of golf in Brownsville
but roads in this part of Texas are uninsured and a slight rain makes them exceedingly slippery and miry
in spots and it was doubtful whether Harding would venture the trip.

Whether Harding gets and outdoor exercise today or not he has the prospect of a big turkey dinner. The chamber of commerce at Cuero, Texas,
sent him a mammoth gobbler in a crate modeled in the form of a munition white house.

Harding is to be known today that he will not enter into international
any other country in his Panama trip.
The American minister to Venezuela, Preston McGowan, extended the president-elect an invitation to visit
Venezuela and Colombia but Senator
Harding indicated he would not accept.

Plans for the departure from Point
Isabel next Wednesday are completed. The party arrives in New Orleans at 10 a. m. Thursday, Nov. 18.
Harding will go to the chamber of commerce for luncheon and a speech. The boat sails for Panama at 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

BULLDOG AND TIGER IN DEATH GRAPPLE

Palmer Stadium, Princeton, N. J.—
Fifty thousand men and women crowded the stands here today when Princeton stalked the gridiron for the annual conflict with the Yale Bull Dog.

The game is of more intense interest because the opposing captains are centers are brothers—Mike and Tim Callahan.

First Quarter
Princeton kicked off to Kelly who caught the ball behind his goal line
and ran it back 14 yards.

Murphy punted to Lourie who was thrown out of bounds on Princeton's 40 yard line. Murray went around left end for 30 yards.

Lourie ran right end for ten yards,
stepping out of bounds with a clear
field in front of him.

Garrity hit right tackle for two yards but Princeton was penalized five yards for off side. Garrity made two yards through right tackle stopped by Captain Tim Callahan. Murray attempted a forward pass which was intercepted. It was Yale's ball on her 10 yard line. Kelly ran right end for 8 yards and then punted to Lourie
who ran out of bounds on Yale's 35 yard line. Murray hit right tackle for five yards. Cross was hurt on the

EARLY START ON PLANS FOR 1922 CAMPAIGN

Democrats Hop to Capitalize
Mistakes of Republican Majority.

REORGANIZATION IGNORED

Party Leaders Declare Present
Organization Is Good Enough for Them.

(By L. C. Martin)
By United Press Leased Wire
Washington—Ignoring those who demand reorganization of the party,
house and senate democrats are to begin the campaign of 1922 immediately
upon the convening of congress, leaders declared today.

They hope to capitalize the mistakes
which they predict the republicans will make so that in the congressional elections two years hence the democrats can "come back."

Both the short session which begins December 6, and the special session expected soon after Harding's inauguration are to be devoted by the democratic minorities to getting campaign material.

Representative Claude Kitchen, democratic leader in the house, is back in Washington and announces his readiness to take charge of the minority and make it an aggressive, fighting force. The republicans, in spite of their record breaking plurality in the house, are none too well united, Kitchen thinks, and he believes that the democrats can be exceedingly effective politically.

Kitchen scoffs at talk of party reorganization. He predicted the republicans would attempt to impose consumption taxes as a substitute for the democratic excess profits tax, which is scheduled for repeal. Consumption taxes would turn out much worse politically than the excess profits tax, he declared.

In the senate the democrats will be guided by Senators Underwood of Alabama, and Hitchcock of Nebraska.
Hitchcock said today that it will not be necessary to reorganize the party,
in his opinion.

FRENCH RELIEVED OVER ADRIATIC SETTLEMENT

Paris—The peace pact signed by Italy and Jugoslavia caused considerable satisfaction in Paris today, particularly in official circles.

The French really were more concerned in the details of the Adriatic settlement than appeared on the surface.

The feeling here is that the Jugo-Slavs were badly worsted in the conference.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS TO HAVE OPEN MEETINGS

Geneva—Open diplomacy and open discussion will mark all meetings of the league of nations assembly and
supreme council, beginning next week,
it was announced today.

The final secret session of the su-

In this meeting, the Polish-Lithuanian dispute is to be taken up.

Delegates to the league of nations
assembly which convenes here Monday expect that Bulgaria and Austria
will be admitted to membership.

day to follow a conference of anti-

cussing the question before the conference advocated that Oregon, Washington, Montana, Idaho, Nevada,
Utah, Arizona, Colorado and Texas be

Laws stopping all Japanese emigra-

STOP SALE OF MALT FOR HOME BREWING

Prohibit on Officers Order Halt
to Violations of Volstead Act.

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington.—Prohibition enforcement officers throughout the country
today were under instructions to prosecute persons selling hops and malt
in connection with other ingredients for the home brewing of beer. They also had instructions not to interfere with lawful sale of hops and malt,
according to a statement by Internal Revenue Commissioner Williams.

The internal revenue bureau is trying to stop the practice of selling packages containing all the ingredients necessary for the manufacture of a certain amount of beer, usually a gallon. Hops and malt are a food product, it was explained, and the bureau
could not halt their sale as such even if it desired. The bureau legal expects believe, however, that when the two products are combined with others their sale constitutes a law violation.

In announcing the internal revenue bureau's plans, Williams issued a statement commenting on a report sent from Washington that he had planned to prevent sale of malt and hops to all persons except bakers and confectioners.

The statement made plain the provisions of the Volstead act prevented
the manufacture of home brew even
for personal or family use.

Red Cross Message To Be Presented From Pulpits

Every Pastor Is Asked to Explain Red Cross Work to His Parishioners.

The message of the Red Cross will be proclaimed from practically every pulpit in Appleton Sunday. That day has been set aside all over the United States as Red Cross Sunday.

Each pastor will tell his congregation about the new program of the Red Cross, especially as it refers to the "greatest mother in the world."

To what extent Outagamie county will be made a better place to live in depends on the response to the 1921 roll call. The Outagamie chapter has determined exactly what its work should be by conducting a survey of the health, social, educational and other welfare conditions here. It has already done a creditable work along health lines, helping the sick, crippled and infirm, and raising the standard of health among school children.

Many new activities will be taken up as soon as proper preparation can be made. Many babies that ordinarily die before they reach the age of two years, will be saved by the Red Cross, and those that are not healthy will be made strong. Those children or adults whose circumstances do not permit of medical advice or care will be helped back to health or strength by the Red Cross. More crippled children will be taken into the Red Cross fold and returned to the county wholly cured or helped to the point where they can be happier and can make their own living, and thus be spared from becoming public charges when they are older.

Many mothers are learning how to nurse the sick of their homes back to health through lessons taught by Red Cross nurses in the Appleton night schools. They will learn to meet the emergency of sudden illness, and perhaps save the lives of their patients by intelligent action up to the moment when a physician arrives. They will know how to bathe patients and to change the bedding of very sick patients without having them leave the bed. The classes are full and there is a long waiting list of mothers who must take the instruction later because there are only two instructors.

Ex-service men, especially those wounded in the world war, are still tendered aid through the Red Cross. Some are just beginning to feel the effects of wounds or poison gas and are discovering that they need care under the United States public health service. They have problems of compensation, insurance and educational bonuses. The Red Cross, expert in preparing papers and data, and skilled in sending requests to the proper authorities for quick action still lends this aid.

Should the county ever be visited by a calamity which would require an organization and financial or relief work, the nearest Red Cross supply station would be able to rush aid to the scene, save lives expedite relief through proper organization and render almost any service required. A nation wide organization assures any city in the United States this service.

These are only a few of the reasons why the Red Cross urges unstinted support of the 1921 roll call. Half of the money stays in Outagamie county and the remainder is used for unselfish service in this country and abroad. Workers have visited many homes already, and will visit the remainder within the next few days. Those who are not home are asked to leave their dollar with some member of the family or mail or take it to the Red Cross headquarters at the Sherman house. No mill, factory, office or store will be visited. Solicitation is only at the homes.

Additional space is available for handling parcel post in the basement of the postoffice. The basement and swing room will both be used for sorting. Rearrangement of the fixtures in the mailing division will also give greater floor space.

The office has also arranged to hire extra men during the rush so as to give patrons the promptest service possible. By taking a long look ahead the postoffice expects to keep the mail moving as fast as it comes to the office.

Outagamie county's second big auction sale of pure bred swine will be conducted by the Duroc Jersey Breeders' association sometime in January. The association has appointed a committee of three consisting of Fred Krahn and E. W. Blanshan, Seymour, and O. P. Cuff, Hortonville to make the arrangements.

The sale is to be conducted in Appleton. The chamber of commerce will probably assist the committee to find a suitable location.

REAL ESTATE LICENSE MEANS OF PROTECTION

An example of how effectively the state licensing system for real estate dealers operates has come to the attention of Daniel P. Steinberg, secretary of the Wisconsin Association of Real Estate Brokers.

A case has arisen in Vilas county where Sanborn and company, Eagle River real estate brokers, are to answer to the complaint of three Crotons, Adam Adamovich, John Procie and Tomo Vukovich, who charge that they were victims of alleged misrepresentation.

The men claim they were induced to settle in Vilas county and paid $1,000 down on a specific tract of land. The real estate company told the men a short time later that they were unable to sell them the land asked for and gave them another tract in place of it. The latter land proved to be a failure, and the three men therefore filed complaint with the state real estate board. The board will examine the case to determine whether the company's license should be revoked.

LLOYD GEORGE IS STILL ABLE TO LAUGH!

London.—This picture doesn't need any story, but the writer is paid to write—and, anyhow you might not notice that embarrassed right toe.

Next to Lloyd George is Mrs. Lloyd George, holding the big bouquet which the shy little girl has just presented (and, if you must know, she chewed her finger so hard it had to be tied up).

FARMER HAS PET CROW THAT IS ABLE TO TALK

Henry Griesbach, town of Center, has a crow that is not only a household pet but talks as well.

The crow was found by Mr. Griesbach's sons about a year ago, when it had fallen out of a nest. The boys took it home and reared it. The bird grew up to be real tame and eats with the chickens.

It was found that a small operation on the crow's tongue would make it talk the same as a parrot does. Mr. Griesbach had this done, and it was not long before the crow learned to say "hello." It has also learned several other words which it speaks to those who pass its cage.

CONGO CHURCH TO HOLD FINANCIAL CANVASS

The First Congregational church will hold its annual "every member" financial canvass Sunday afternoon. Twenty teams of four men each will visit every home in the parish and secure pledges toward the church budget.

The workers held a banquet at the church Friday evening at which the plans were completed. The city was divided into 20 sections and the captains drew lots to ascertain which would be their territory. R. E. Carr, chairman of the board of trustees, Dr. H. E. Peabody and F. J. Hallow delivered brief addresses outlining the importance and purpose of the canvass.

All captains and team members are to assemble at the church at two o'clock Sunday afternoon to receive final instructions. They will meet again at six o'clock for supper and check up the results of the canvass. Letters have been written to each family of the congregation requesting them to remain at home Sunday afternoon.

The sale is to be conducted in Appleton. The chamber of commerce will probably assist the committee to find a suitable location.

Make Money on Your Idle Machinery

Here is the way one farmer made money on his idle machinery. He had $2,000 worth of farm implements which he left out in the open all year. He figured his investment this way:

Interest on $2,000 at 6 per cent	$120.00
Wear and tear on machinery at 20 per cent	400.00
Total debit	$520.00

A Good Machinery Shed was brought to his attention and he built it for about $450.00. It saved him, he figured, over one-half of the wear and tear on his machinery, because it protected his implements from the weather and from rusting. He then figured his investment this way:

Interest on $2,450 at 6 per cent	$147.00
Wear and tear on machinery at 8 per cent	160.00
Wear and tear on shed at 10 per cent	45.00
Total debit	$352.00

His Machinery Shed Saved Him $168.00 Every Year

It paid him more than 27 per cent on his machinery shed investment, and he figured he was making money on his idle machinery.

Come in and tell us how much you have invested in farming implements. We'll figure out what you should spend to make money on your idle machinery.

Aged Wanderer Is Driven From His Home By Cruelty

"Jim Brown" Is Guest of Chief Prim While He Tells Story of Vicissitudes.

Evidently bent on finding a place he might call home, "Jim" Brown, a white haired man of 76 years roamed into Outagamie county and finally found his way into the hands of George T. Prim, chief of police, who gave him a place to sleep Thursday night and then made provision to send him in the direction of New Albany, Ind., which he claims as his home.

The aged wanderer said he walked here from Milwaukee, making the trip in four days. He was given an occasional "lift" by autoists along the road. He stopped with a farmer named Mitchell, near Kaukauna, for a meal and a night's lodging. Mitchell turned him over to a county supervisor, who in turn took him to Nick Liesch, another member of the county board. Liesch turned him over to Chief Prim.

Brown says his relatives at New Albany refused to care for him, so he sought a home elsewhere. He was placed in an institution at Rushville, Ill., where he remained until the cru-city of the attendants drove him away. He was also in another Illinois institution for a time, but could not recall the name. Too much abuse caused him to leave there also, and he has wandered about for nearly a year.

Extreme hot or cold weather affects his memory, Brown states. He had an operation for an abscess on the head eight or ten years ago, and this has bothered him at times.

Wandering but not seemed to bother him much, but his constant plea here was to be sent back to New Albany, where he believed his relatives could be forced to provide for him. He said he had a sister and brother there and another in Idaho. The cold weather evidently made him feel the need of a home, as he had no overcoat or mittens.

"Send me back to New Albany if you would be so kind," he told Chief Prim several times. "That's home to me. I'm proud of my home city and my state."

Chief Prim arranged to provide the man with railroad fare as far as Milwaukee, where he believed he could find help to carry him the rest of the way.

FAMOUS PUBLICIST

MISS IDA M. TARBELL

WOMAN PUBLICIST ON LOCAL PROGRAM

Miss Ida M. Tarbell Considered One of Brightest Women in America.

Women of Appleton are greatly pleased at the large proportion of their sex who are appearing this season on the Appleton Community Lecture and Artist Series. The Women's Club is backing the series and it was through its efforts that the reserved seat sale went over so well yesterday.

Miss Ida M. Tarbell, America's foremost woman publicist will appear in Appleton on Monday, January 24. Her subject will be "The Re-Making of the World."

As a special writer, editor, historian and speaker, Miss Tarbell has an enviable reputation throughout the world. She has been prominently identified as a magazine contributor and a student of social problems for the past several years. A few years ago she was induced by the Coit-Alber Organization of Cleveland to devote some time to platform work. From the very beginning she found a fine appreciation in the minds and hearts of her hearers. Her every appearance was a notable occurrence.

Then came the great war and Miss Tarbell served with distinction as the vice chairman of the Women's Committee of the Council of National Defense at Washington, and in this capacity she was in close and confidential relationships to the activities of the government. She spent months in Paris to report for a number of publications the epoch making developments of the peace conference, and her impressions of the world leaders gathered in that memorable conference proved intensely interesting during the past year.

During her stay in Europe, Miss Tarbell spent much time in Belgium, France, England, and Italy, where she conducted an intimate study of the changing relationships between capital and labor which the war brought about.

Coming back to America she made an extended tour throughout practically the whole of the United States, gathering impressions and studying after-war conditions here.

Commercial Bodies Take Up Yellow Trail Burden

Appleton Is Well Represented at Yellowstone Trail Meet in Oshkosh.

The commercial organizations along the Wisconsin section of the Yellowstone trail have taken it upon themselves to secure full payment of Wisconsin's assessment to the Yellowstone Trail Association. Each commercial body will use its influence in the neighboring cities that have no chamber of commerce to secure prompt payment of the apportioned amount.

This move by the representatives present at the Yellowstone Trail association meeting at Oshkosh Friday will be the means of keeping the trail from Chicago to Minneapolis in Wisconsin, instead of having it re-routed through Iowa, as has been contemplated. Most members of the association realized the importance of the trail to the state and had little fear that it would be routed elsewhere.

Appleton was represented by seven men, the most sent by any city including Oshkosh. Several were members of committees which took up various matters concerning the trail. Those who attended were Hugh G. Corbett, secretary of the chamber of commerce, John Conway, H. L. Post, Ambrose Wilton, George Puth, Ned Stanton, and H. M. Culbertson, Medina.

The exact value of the Yellowstone trail to Wisconsin cities was explained by H. O. Cooley, Minneapolis, managing secretary of the association. He said $850,000,000 had been appropriated for roads in the United States, but that the amount of mileage to be improved would allow only $350 a mile for paving.

Figures showed that approximately 20,000 automobiles passed through Wisconsin every season. Mr. Cooley stated, representing about 60,000 tourists.

lets. An estimate of the average expenses of a tour made the average worth of a tourist to the state while within its borders six dollars a day.

About 400 miles of the trail goes through Wisconsin and the assessment for the state is $4,000. Only about $2,000 of this had been raised, mostly because of lack of organized effort. There was found to be little trouble about payment where a city had a chamber of commerce. Mr. Cooley put it up to the business organizations to do all they could to make neighboring cities and towns forsake the "Let George pay it" idea. The time would come when "George" would refuse to pay the fee.

The various secretaries of commercial organizations present promised to put the matter of payment of assessments before their boards of directors and to see that all appropriate action was taken promptly in the future. Appleton was one of the cities that had paid its full amount. Those secretaries also promised to use their influence with other cities in their locality.

H. B. Wiley, Miles City, Mont., national president, was at the meeting and delivered an address.

Committees were appointed at the morning session to take up various matters concerning the administration of the trail. Each was given a set of questions and answers in the nature of a referendum to be voted for or against. The committees met during the lunch hour and made recommendations at the afternoon session. Each state votes on the questions and the national executive committee has a guide in final adjustment of these matters.

John Conway was nominated for member of the executive committee for Wisconsin but declined the office because of the press of other duties. Leigh Hollister, Oshkosh, was elected instead.

Another amendment removes the requirement that public funds be deposited in the state bank. The amendment limiting the loans of the state bank to actual farmers in the state was also passed. BIG STAR LEADS ELLINGTON COWS

Only Five Ellington Cows Produced More Than 40 Pounds of Fat in Month.

No especially high records were made by the Ellington Cow Testing association in the month of September, due to the dry pastures and the fact that most of the cows have been in milk since spring or longer.

The report of Mathias Nelson, official tester, shows, however, that the high cow for the month was Big Star, a grade Guernsey owned by Edward Lohrenz and Sons. This cow freshened January 12. Her month's record was 860 pounds of milk testing 5.1 per cent and yielding 43.3 pounds of butter fat.

A total of 395 cows was tested. Five produced at least 40 pounds of butter fat. All but one of these cows has milked for seven months or longer.

George Saubert's Guernsey herd took the lead for overage production.

I wish to state that I will not be responsible for any debts contracted by my wife, Lillian Krueger. (Signed) Henry Krueger.

SEYMOUR MAN IS KILLED BY TRAIN

Harry Hanley Dies When Automobile Is Struck Near Black Creek.

Harry Hanley, 35 years old, whose home is in Seymour was instantly killed shortly before eight o'clock Saturday morning when his automobile was struck by a west bound Green Bay and Western train at a railroad crossing about one and one half miles east of Black Creek. The body, which was hurled several feet, was badly mutilated.

Hanley, who is a married man with two small children, was employed by the Brandt Auto and Implement company in Black Creek. He was driving from his home to Black Creek when the accident occurred. It was said that the railroad track crosses the road at a sharp angle and that it is difficult to see an approaching train, especially from an automobile fitted with side curtains.

The body was taken to Seymour where the funeral is to be held, but the time has not been fixed.

Coroner H. E. Ellsworth announced that an inquest will not be held.

GOOD ROADS PROGRESS

The people of Minnesota at the recent election voted a $100,000,000 bond issue for improving the state highway. Counties have appropriated many ways by a majority of three to one. The vote specifically taken was on a constitutional amendment empowering the legislature to vote bonds for highway construction. This is said to be the largest bond issue for road improvement attempted at any one time by a state, and the overwhelming victory indicates a tremendous good roads sentiment in Minnesota. The fact that the state is primarily an agricultural state makes the vote highly significant as showing the attitude of the farmers towards good roads. Illinois bonded for $60,000,000 and Michigan for $50,000,000 in 1919. In addition to Minnesota, Virginia voted a $50,000,000 highway improvement good road bond issue. West Virginia $50,000,000, Missouri $60,000,000, Kansas $60,000,000 and Colorado $5,000,000.

The bond issue in Minnesota is for the purpose of securing funds to build a 7,000 mile state highway system. Under the Minnesota plan it is proposed to pay the interest on the bonds and to create a sinking fund for their retirement by increasing the automobile license fees so that they will average $18 per car per year. The present tax levy will be continued to build the lateral roads. Under the bond issue plan seventy specified routes are created on which the funds are to be spent. The legislature is authorized to provide for the issue and sale of the bonds to finance the construction of the system provided that there shall not be any more than $10,000,000 of bonds issued in any one year and the total amount shall not exceed $100,000,000.

Wisconsin has had a sufficient demonstration of the value of building permanent highways through its trunk line system, to prove that the improvement of its roads is the most beneficial and constructive public work in which it can engage. From a state with notoriously bad roads five years ago it has been transformed into a state where roads compare favorably with those in any other part of the country. Countries have appropriated many millions of dollars for highway construction, and the results have been most gratifying. Every stretch of concrete or other improved road built has created a demand for improvement of other roads. Wisconsin now knows that permanent road building is the greatest investment it can make for the prosperity, well-being and contentment of its people.

While we have gone far in good roads building we have only touched the high spots. Where we have ten miles of improved highways we have a hundred that are unimproved. Extension of this work is largely a matter for local initiative, but there is still a great deal that the state can do toward attaining the ultimate objective of having good roads everywhere. There is no more important subject to which the next legislature can address itself than the further expansion of our new highway system with liberal appropriations and cooperative legislation.

THE PRESIDENT

Woodrow Wilson now belongs to history. He is no longer a contemporary political issue. Henceforth, men will survey his works with eyes cleared of partisan prejudice. He passes from the scene, and there must come to all his countrymen a sense of having witnessed a great tragedy—a haunting sadness as after an evening at a play with a mournful ending.

The men of Woodrow Wilson's time may never agree over the right or wrong of his policies, but all men must stand in admiration before the spirit that burned itself out with its own ardor. The judgment of history is yet to be written of Woodrow Wilson, the statesman, but it can speak only good of Wilson, the man, who fought himself out for what he believed to be right.

It is well that no accusation of partisanship now can rest against fair-minded Americans, who, as he recedes into the perspective of history, accord to Wilson, the man, his due need of credit, while history weighs Wilson, the president.

Never has there come out of the presidency a figure so pathetic and appealing to the sympathy of the nation. Those who have seen him recently speak of the sense of shock they felt when they came into his presence and saw an "old, old man, his face drawn and haggard, his eyes dull, his voice low and weak."

Sitting thus in his wheel chair, he awaits the hour when he shall be mustered out of service. In the meantime let us have a truce on hates and prejudices. It is a time for sympathy, generosity, understanding and justice. Let the great American heart open up once more to embrace not—if you will so have it—Woodrow Wilson, but the president of the United States.

PACIFIC COAST AND THE JAPS

Southerners, with an age-long negro problem still on their hands, instinctively sympathize with the Pacific coast on the Japanese question. Easterners, partly from a natural desire to avoid trouble with Japan and partly from lack of experience with a competitive race, are inclined to skepticism and lack of sympathy. It is therefore important to know what are the reasons for the strong anti-Japanese sentiment in California, Oregon and Washington, which in California has gone the length of approving a drastic alien land law by a vote of three to one.

An overwhelming majority of whites in the Pacific coast states have for time past demanded further anti-Japanese legislation by both the legislatures and congress. They say the so-called "gentleman's agreement" has not been observed by Japan and they want congress to exclude from America all Japanese subjects except students and tourists. They claim that thousands of Japanese workers have entered the country contrary to the agreement—chiefly through Mexico—and that Japan connives at illicit immigration. They demand not only the stopping of illicit immigration but more stringent legislation against land-holding by Japanese already in the country.

Instinctive race prejudice can be readily understood by the average person, but the Japanese problem in the west goes deeper than this, for it is essentially industrial. White farmers and fruit growers cannot compete with the Japanese because the Japs and their families live under conditions which no white family would consent to or be able to endure. The consequence is that the Japs undersell their white rivals, prosper amazingly and stand ready to buy out their falling white neighbors. Even if older men and women think they must submit to such a handicap, the young people will not do it. Under most favorable circumstances it is hard to keep young America on farms, ranches and orchards; with the Japanese burden added, it is more difficult to check the western exodus to the cities. If agriculture on the Pacific coast is not to be gradually surrendered to the Japanese, they will have to be prevented from acquiring land by vesting titles in American-born Japanese or by other subterfuge.

The government at Washington is required to deal with the Japanese question from the national standpoint, but it is not incorrect to say that when this problem concerns the economic welfare and the peace of a great territory like the Pacific coast, the interests of that locality become the interests of the nation. It is obviously impossible to adopt a foreign policy that will place the Pacific coast at the mercy of the Japanese. We cannot ask our people there to compete industrially with a race whose standards of life and comforts are pitched upon a vastly lower scale, which makes drudges of its women and children and which slaves sixteen hours a day and lives upon next to nothing.

Eastern indifference or complacency will not solve the Japanese problem in the west. The only result of such an attitude will be to weaken the federal government in the discharge of its proper obligations to California, Washington and Oregon. The recent vote on the alien land act in California ought to convince the entire country that the Japanese problem is exceedingly serious. It requires wise as well as firm treatment by Washington. Moreover, the interests of the United States must always be held paramount to the interests of Japan in dealing with the question.

BLACKHEADS AND PIMPLES

In my twelve years' experience in teaching newspaper readers how to keep well or even better I have made some momentous discoveries. My latest discovery is that when the average young woman asks what is good for her complexion she means blackheads and pimples, the very familiar skin trouble known to doctors as acne. It took me several years to find that out, which probably shows how inapt a plain doctor can be when he attempts to pose as an all-around medical authority.

Any number of well known nostrums are good for blackheads and pimples, that is, they will raise a crop in a short time, thanks to the iodide of a potash or the bromides they contain. Iodides and bromides are notorious producers of acne. The ancient quacks used to turn this to their own advantage by intimating that the skin eruption showed that the dope was "driving out impurities," and there are still a few people who solemnly accept this flapdoodle and keep right on buying the "blood purifier" or "acne tonic."

Persons whose occupation exposes them to tar or oils are likely to have acne pimples or boils, from inclusion of the mouths of the oil ducts of the skin.

Boys and girls from the age of thirteen to nineteen years are particularly subject to acne, probably because of the natural physiological development or rapid growth of the sebaceous or oil glands at that age.

Diet has practically nothing to do with the question of blackheads or pimples. Nor has acne any relation with imaginary "poor blood," nor is anyone entitled to intimate that this skin condition is in any manner influenced by the victim's morality or immorality.

For ordinary blackheads, and for the condition sometimes termed "enlarged pores," and for an excessive oiliness of the skin of the face, this lotion may be applied each night, following a prolonged hot bathing and expression of blackheads by gentle pressure with the fingers covered with a clean cloth:

Sublimed sulphur..... 1 dram
Alcohol..... 1 ounce
Compound tincture of lavender..... 1 ounce
Glycerin..... 1 ounce
Camphor water..... 1 ounce
Equal parts of each of the five ingredients.
When there is redness of the nose or a tendency toward acne rosacea ("rum blossom") a more astringent lotion is advisable:

Zinc sulphate..... 1 dram
Sulphated potassium..... 1 dram
Rose water..... 4 ozs.
This is to be applied over night, after a prolonged hot bathing.

The pimples and boils about the hands, arms and face of machinists and others exposed to oil are caused by infection conveyed in the oil or cutting mixture from one man to another and by uncleanness.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Scalp Eczema

Please suggest something for the relief of scalp eczema. My eight year old boy has it, a spot half the size of my hand on the back and top of the scalp. (Mrs. E. J. S.)

ANSWER—Softens the crusts by applying liquid petrolatum (Russian oil, Mineral oil, Abolene, Nujol, Paraffin oil are various names for liquid petrolatum). The boy may wear a rubber bathing cap while the oil is on his scalp. Shampoo the next morning. If there is oozing or weeping, apply a solution of

Aluminum acetate..... 2 drams
Water..... 6 ozs.
When weeping or oozing has stopped, apply to the patch once daily some of this thin ointment:
Oil of tar..... 1/2 dram
Precipitated sulphur..... 1 dram
Benzated lard..... 1 oz.
Petrolatum..... 1 oz.

Bicycles
I am a girl aged 13 years and want to ride a bicycle. Daddy approves of this form of exercise for boys, but thinks it is not healthful for girls. I would like to have your opinion for my daddy's benefit. ("Dorothy")

ANSWER—Bicycle riding is as healthful for girls as for boys. All my boys are girls and they ride bicycles. Tell daddy I said he shouldn't be so old.

Washington Monuments

By Frederic J. Haskin.

Washington, D. C.—Some miles up the Potomac from the capital there is a work of stone which is a far truer monument to George Washington than the impossible marble effigy which serves so well as a look-out for tourists.

This other Washington monument, consists of the remains of the locks and stone-walled channels which were built by the Potomac Company, of which Washington was president, in an effort to make the river navigable and to establish a trade route to the West. A good many Americans have seen the part of the work which is in the vicinity of Great Falls, Virginia. A rock-walled channel with crude locks was here constructed to carry the canal boats past the falls, and it still remains sufficiently intact to carry water. Modern engineers say that it was well-planned and constructed, and it is said the European engineers of that time who saw it in operation proclaimed it a great engineering feat.

A little farther up the river, there is a long channel, which was built apparently for the purpose of getting around a shallow rapid in the stream. This channel may still be traced for the greater part of its length, showing intact rock walls eight or ten feet high along much of its length. It is hard to realize that once this channel carried much of the commerce of the West down to the sea in flat boats propelled with poles. Today it runs through forest. The part of Virginia is singularly wild and isolated. Tobacco exhausted its soil long ago. Commerce has deserted the river for the railroads. Much of the land is run to timber. Great sycamores throw their branches across George Washington's canal, and solid forest shuts it in on either hand. Saplings nearly a foot thick have thrust their way through crevices in the masonry. There is no sound but that made by the hurrying water. Occasionally a lone canoeist comes this way for the thrill of running the fast water. He sees no living thing but a flock of wood ducks, perhaps, or a big red fox squirrel high in a tree.

Washington a Business Man
This forgotten work, which seems so puny beside the great engineering feats of today, represented Washington's effort to fulfill the purpose which occupied the greater part of his life. That purpose was to establish a connection with the West, in order to bind the new nation together, and also to enrich himself.

For Washington was a business man and money-maker both before he was the Father of His Country and when he had retired from its service. He had been held up to our admiration so long as a man of saintly sacrifices that he remains scarcely human. As a matter of fact, he was a very typical American, the forerunner of the hustling, pushing, money-making property-loving American of today. He was the richest man of his times, and he was always getting richer, reaching out his hands, renting them and selling them.

When Washington was a young man he was sent by Lord Fairfax to survey the latter's western lands. Washington saw clearly that these rich bottom lands just beyond the Ohio were sure to become immensely valuable. He determined to get his share of them while the getting was good. He went back to the West himself and he hired agents there. He took up all the lands the law allowed and bought out the claims of others for as little as a penny an acre. He was soon the owner of rich bottom lands in the Ohio and Kanawha valleys to the amount of 30,000 acres and had surveyed some 10,000 acres more with a view to acquiring them. The getting of these lands, the renting and selling of them, and the effort to reach them with some sort of transportation, so that their full value might be realized, were the concerns of the greater part of George Washington's life.

The Potomac Company was organized with Washington as its president in 1784 with the purpose of carrying out his plan in full. The river was to be made navigable as far as Cumberland. There, a 20 mile portage-road was to be constructed to the head of the Cheat River, and this was to be improved so that boats could go down to the Ohio. In this way transportation was to be brought directly to Washington's great landholdings. He further planned to improve some northern tributary of the Ohio, make another portage-road to the head of one of the streams flowing into Lake Erie, and so connect the coast with the Great Lakes.

Of this great dream, little was realized. The Potomac was improved so that a foot of water could be maintained in its upper parts, and it carried a considerable traffic in flat boats for some years. But Washington's company never paid but one dividend to investors, and that was probably a forced dividend and a very small one. The rest of the plan was not carried out at all. In 1832 the Potomac Company was absorbed by the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal Company. So George Washington never saw his western lands connected with the coast by water transportation. About five years before his death he advertised them for sale in Philadelphia. But he made a bold plan and a bold effort. He was a true pioneer of American industrial expansion and money-making.

TALKS ON CITIZENSHIP

By D. O. KINSMAN, Ph. D.

Professor of Economics, Lawrence College, and Educational Director of the Wisconsin Society for Civic and Economic Education.

The New Citizenship

For three hundred years we have been told that an educated citizenship is the safeguard of a democracy. As a consequence we have covered our native land with a network of public schools and dotted it thickly with colleges and universities.

But the statement is false. An educated citizenship is no necessary guarantee of security to a democracy. The citizen versed in Greek and Latin, science and mathematics, literature and law is not necessarily more patriotic because of his learning. Can any such person point to his acts of patriotism and say they are due to his learning? If so, he is an exception.

If an educated citizenship is the safeguard of a democracy, the peoples of the German Empire should have been the most ardent protectors of democratic institutions, for they are most highly educated. Their military draft revealed the fact that but one in two thousand of those who enlisted was illiterate, while in our own state four in two thousand are illiterate. Yet Germany, with her highly educated citizenship, proved to be democracy's most dangerous foe.

Our own country supplies us with proof of our point. Benedict Arnold was no illiterate. A visit to our jails and penitentiaries, especially Federal, would provide us with opportunity to meet many a college graduate. Some one has said that education does not check crime, but only changes its check crime. It has a refining influence upon the offense. The educated safe-cracker stands high in penitentiary society. He turns up his nose at the common sneak thief and the purse grabber. So education may simply sharpen the wits of the evil doer and enable him to evade the law more completely.

It is the educated demagogue who is most successful in framing the arguments which lead the people to the wrong conclusion. The recent campaign furnished abundant proof of the fact. How generally the public mind was beclouded regarding the facts about the League of Nations. In many quarters there was no attempt to present the facts and discuss the merits of the Covenant, but, manifestly there was a shrewd and deliberate effort by means of insinuation and carefully worded misrepresentation to shape public opinion in support of the particular party which the speaker happened to represent. One who uses his education for such a purpose is worse than a criminal—he is a traitor. The danger is that he will lead the nation to assume a false position before the world resulting in her everlasting harm.

Our citizenship must be rightly educated if our democracy is to endure. The war has proven that no general education is sufficient, a special training is absolutely necessary. We must lay the foundation of our Republic stress and strain if it is to stand the test of time. National and international, strong, intelligent, moral citizenship, loyal to the best in America and the world is the thing that will ensure the blessing of a democracy to the good of mankind.

(One week from today Professor Kinsman will discuss "The New Citizen.")

Rub the wood well with the damp cloth and polish with your own favorite brand of furniture polish.

The amount of dirt that the vinegar-dampened cloth removes is surprising. It leaves the wood clean and in condition to take a wonderful polish.

BREAKFAST—Stewed prunes, broiled bacon, scrambled eggs, toast, coffee.

LUNCHEON—Pimento rice, brown bread and butter, pickles, nut ginger bread, tea.

DINNER—Cream of tomato soup, baked fish, creamed potatoes, shredded cabbage, mince pie, coffee.

My Own Recipes
Mince pie should never be served after a heavy dinner. The fact that there are so many cases of illness after holidays is due to the eating of too much and too rich food. Fish is considered a "light" meat and requires a heavy dessert like mince pie. But to serve mince pie after a turkey dinner with all its fixings is tempting providence. But we'll probably all do it.

PIMENTO RICE
½ cup rice

1 cup grated cheese
1 can pimentos
2 eggs
2 tablespoons butter
1 cup milk
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon pepper
½ teaspoon onion pepper
Cook rice until nearly done. While hot beat in cheese, pimentos chopped fine, eggs well beaten, milk, butter, salt and pepper. Turn into a buttered baking dish, sprinkle lightly with buttered crumbs and bake half an hour in a slow oven.

NUT GINGER BREAD
½ cup sugar
½ cup lard
1 cup molasses
2½ cups flour
2 eggs
1 cup boiling water
2 teaspoons soda
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon each cinnamon, ginger and cloves
1 cup nuts

Cream lard and sugar. Add molasses. Add flour, salt and spices. Dissolve soda in water and add to mixture. Beat eggs well and add the last thing. The nuts should be added after the water and soda. Turn into a buttered and floured dripping-pan or two square cake pans and bake in a moderate oven for 35 minutes.

THE BOOK OF DEBORAH
Was It Deb's New Frock That Shaped the Events One Afternoon?

In response to several notes and phone calls, a delightful group of persons gathered on my terrace for Sunday night supper. Willy Van Eyck came with her brother Paul. I had invited Katherine out of sheer generosity. Let Bob see her enough and she would bore him. I assured myself. Let him flirt with her—and I would flirt with Van!

Ted Moore, Jim and Ann, Martha Palmer and her husband, and Chrys, of course, made the intimate center of a congenial group.

Deb had never looked prettier. I thought, as she stepped from her car. She was a stunning thing, tall and slender, with perfect features and silky shiny hair, which made glorious halo around her head.

Ann indicated, by gesture, that she desired me to pay particular attention to Deb's new frock, and I did without in the least surmising that it was going to shape the events that afternoon. Or was it Ann's coon? Or was it Deb's Irish terrier played destiny's part?

To begin with the dress, it was a darling little taffeta affair, pale blue with linings of pale pink and cordings of pale yellow showing in the most unexpected French fashion. The gown was cut in the newest mode. It had a long straight medieval bodice with the waist line at the hips. The sides of the bodice were prolonged into narrow panels, back and front, four altogether. They fell to the foot of the gathered skirt and were looped up and fastened with the hem.

Those loops bothered Deb terribly. She moves with the grand free swing of the college prize-winner in athletics, she never pays any attention to her garments, and that afternoon she was forever catching her unfamiliar looped fastenings on some projection of the furniture.

The men passed the plates and the supper, and, of course, dear old Jim, usually the most careful of all the boys, put one foot through a dangling loop of Deb's dragging sash as he bent over her chair with a cup of tea.

I was glad that no one but me noticed poor Jim, not daring to move for fear of spilling his tea, while poor Deb detected her draperies. They were held close together for several seconds, and they were rather pink when the release was at last achieved.

Perhaps, to conceal her embarrassment, Deb contributed to the conversation a tale about Mike, her Irish terrier.

Mike is a war dog. Deb brought him from France. He had been a company mascot, he was wounded, and was given to Deb by his owner who died in Deb's car on the road, but twelve hospital attendants.

"Mike has initiative, without refinement," laughed Deb. "He never pursues a chicken in the road, but two nights ago he dug under a concrete wall into the Varney's poultry house and killed six valuable prize-winning Barred Plymouth Rocks!"

Mike's stock seemed to rise wonderfully in the estimation of all the men present, and perhaps in his own. He was posed on the top step of the terrace stairs, watching nothing in particular, but turning an understanding eye toward Deb whenever he heard his name.

"Those awful Varney hens! The Varneys seem to think we ought to hang Mike! And he's usually so reliable—he never chases a cat!"

"At the moment there was a sharp scuffle of hard pads on the pavement, and the reliable Mike was off like a shot in pursuit of Ann's pet racoon!

CLEANUP OF SUPERIOR IS POLICE ULTIMATUM

Superior.—An organized band of rascals, soliciting the help of out side crooks, are out to "get" Chief of Police Louis Osborne.

This is the opinion of the police chief given following the arrest of Dan Morris and Tony Albrick, who are charged with holding up the Abraham pool room.

"An air-tight lid is going to be clamped down on this city," said Chief Osborne, "and gambling is going to be stamped out if we have to place a policeman in every pool room in the city. It will be a general cleanup."

That raids on places where gambling was alleged to have been going on were tipped off by some unknown means before the police could make arrests is the assertion of Chief Osborne.

tion at Milwaukee on "Wisconsin's Need for Trained Workers," and Saturday morning will conduct a conference of public health nurses, health instructors and health service workers. Miss Nellie Van Kooy, state supervising nurse, will speak Friday on "Putting Training to the Acid Test."

The state bureau received a report of the Rusk county nurse, Miss Margaret Thomas, citing how the value of cooperation is being instilled in children. Speaking to pupils of a rural school on personal hygiene, she asked what should be done with the boy who doesn't keep clean or sleep with windows open.

"Are you going to let him keep your record down?" she asked.

"Don't worry," was the answer from a fifth grader. "us fellows will take him out behind the barn."

18 MONTHS IN JAIL FOR SLAYING NEGRO

Racine Young Man Goes to Jail in Pittsburg After Homicide Conviction.

Racine, Wis.—Eighteen months in jail at Pittsburg was the sentence meted out to Earl M. Price, university graduate and former officer, for the slaying of a negro porter in a Pittsburg hotel, July 7.

Born in Racine county about twenty-six years ago, Price was given every opportunity by well to do relatives to make a name for himself and his career was most promising. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Morgan Price, moved from their farm to Racine so that the son might obtain the best of education. Graduating from the Racine high school, Price entered Wisconsin university, taking courses in civil and mining engineering, and scored success.

Stroke Affected Mind

After graduating from the university in 1912, Price decided to enter the military service and was accepted at West Point. When the United States entered the war, Price was commissioned first lieutenant and placed at an eastern camp. Just about the time he was to leave for Europe, Price was taken ill and sent to an army hospital, where it was claimed that sunstroke had caused illness. After his discharge from the hospital, Price, promoted to a captaincy, was placed in charge of a prisoner's camp near Salt Lake City, and later was discharged because of physical disability.

Went to School of Mines

Price returned to Racine in the spring of 1918 and then decided to enter the Pittsburg School of Mining Engineering. Relatives endeavored to dissuade him, because of his physical and mental condition, but he paid no heed to them. His work in the college attracted much attention from the faculty and a bright future appeared in store. On the evening of July 7 last, Price entered a Pittsburg hotel where he had some words with the negro bell boy. The two went outside and Price shot and killed Earl Loring, the colored man.

Price was convicted of the charge of murder. An appeal was taken to the higher court and the murder charge changed to that of manslaughter.

TRIPLETS ARE BORN TO DUNN COUNTY HOLSTEIN

Richwood.—One of the most unusual freaks or nature occurring in Dunn county in a long time was the birth of a set of triplets to a Holstein cow on the Nels Tilsen farm, near Menomonie.

The first calf weighed 84 pounds, the second 42 pounds and the third 61 pounds, a total of 187 pounds. The mother is a 2-year-old heifer.

The occurrence is bound to attract wide attention among animal husbandry men, being a great rarity. Neither Dr. Bryant, Menomonie, nor Dr. H. D. Larzelere, the government veterinarian there, had in their extensive experience ever heard of a similar case.

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

Get Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 17 years and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, but a healing, soothing vegetable laxative.

No gripping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth"—bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver—constipation, you'll find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at bedtime.

Thousands take them every night just to keep right. Try them.

LAWMAKERS' MEET MAY BREAK RECORD

Madison Officials Scoff at Hope for Short Session of Legislature.

(Special to Post-Crescent)
Madison, Wis.—State officials, old newspaper men and others who have been familiar with the sessions of the Wisconsin legislature in the past are laughing at a report recently sent out from Madison, purporting to quote Dr. Charles McCarthy of the Legislative Reference Library as stating there is every indication that the coming session of the legislature will be shorter than usual.

"It is true," said an old attaché of the legislature, "that at the beginning of the session, and in fact for two or three months the new members will be talking of hustling through, of a short session, but you can bet your last dollar the session will last at least six months and I would not be surprised to see it go into September, breaking all records."

With the charge of administration, and an unusually large number of new members in both houses, it will be several weeks after the session is convened before it can be expected to really get down to work. There are practically no committee hearings, aside from the finance committee for four or five weeks. That does not mean that the members will be idle, or "killing time", but they will be at work on the bills they are going to introduce, and even with the truly wonderful assistance accorded by the Reference Library, sometime referred to as the "bill factory", the new members will be surprised when they arrive here at the work they will have to do in preparing bills.

Of course, but few members make any attempt to write the bills themselves. They give the attorneys in the Reference Library an idea of what they want embodied in the bill. A rough sketch of the bill is drafted and submitted to the member. It may or may not meet with his approval, but it must then be properly drafted, it must be carefully examined as to its constitutionality and then whether or not it conflicts with any law on the statute.

In the meantime it is up to the members to study the bills which are being presented. "I always make it a point to study my lesson," said Assemblyman Thomas W. Bartingale, Chippewa Falls, "so I can vote intelligently, and I won't be hurried, either." C. E. Hanson, River Falls, is another old member who will return next session, who, although a farmer and anxious to finish the sessions as early as possible, will always insist on being fully informed before voting for or against a measure.

The prediction can well be made that the 1921 session of the legislature will last at least six months, and if partisan politics should creep in, with the majorities in the two houses of conflicting opinions, it may last much longer.

THIS MAN IS BELIEVER IN HEARTY BREAKFASTS

Fond du Lac.—If you want to know what a real appetite is, with a capacity to match, give the gastronomic feats of Dick Sampson, of this burg the once over. He invaded a restaurant at breakfast time, ate ham and eggs, bread and butter, four cups of coffee and three dozen oysters and complained of the unsatisfactory quality of the food.

"I'm hungry," he wailed to a companion.

"Bet you $10 to 50 cents you can't eat four T-bone steaks now," offered the friend.

"Sabel! Walter!" shouted the hungry Sampson.

One by one the T-bone steaks marched up and disappeared down the Sampson throat. Fifteen glasses of water wet the way for them. Sampson collected his bet, paid half of it for his breakfast and said he "guessed he could last till lunch time."

DR. JOHN TILL IS SEEKING PARDON

Plaster Doctor of Barron County Is One of Sixteen Applicants.

(Special to Post-Crescent)
Madison, Wis.—"Doctor" John Till, famous "plaster doctor" of Barron county, who was convicted May 22, 1919, of practicing medicine without a license and sentenced by the Barron County Circuit court to six months in the county jail, has applied to Gov. E. L. Phillips for a pardon and will be granted a hearing with fifteen other applications Wednesday. Following his conviction Till appealed to the supreme court which upheld the lower court's this fall, thus compelling the famous "Doctor" to go to jail.

WILL NOT CURTAIL LOGGING OUTPUT

Northern Mills Will Make Big Timber Cut Despite Market Conditions.

Wausau.—Despite the uncertain market conditions Wausau lumber firms will not curtail their logging operations the coming season, and some of them have already established camps. The labor situation has greatly improved and no trouble is being experienced in securing full crews. Wages remain high. The B. Heine-mann Lumber Co. will get out about 15,000,000 feet of logs this winter, obtaining the supply through jobbers who will work about the new camp the company is now building in Langlade county. The Jacob Mortenson Lumber Co. will secure a normal stock of logs. The company's saw mill is now shut down, but will resume operations early next year. The Yawkey & Bissell Lumber Co. will operate large camps at White Lake and Rib Falls, putting in a total of about 50,000,000 feet. The company has standing timber to last a quarter of a century at the present rate of cutting. About a million feet of the cut the present year will be white pine.

The Bissell Lumber Co. will operate these camps for the mill at Rib Falls getting out the normal supply of logs. The Wheeler-Timlin Co., which has mills at Wittenberg and Dorchester, will reduce its cut about 50 per cent while the Brooks & Lumber Co., Schofield, will cut its usual 25,000,000 feet.

Other large cuts are to be made by Regner & Tingle, Hermanson & Anderson and Chevrier & Sons.

LA CROSSE SCHOOLS PLAN BIG PARTIES

New Advisory Council Arranges for Three Big Public Meetings.

La Crosse, Wis.—At a general meeting of the advisory council of the public schools, plans were adopted whereby the public will participate in various school activities in La Crosse.

The advisory council is a new body created by the faculty and Supt. B. E. McCormick. It is composed of a group of teachers and principals elected by members of the faculty to confer with the superintendent on professional and other matters pertaining to general school management and policies.

Plans are being perfected for three public events in which the community will be asked to participate. The first will be a series of educational programs. The foremost talent in education will be invited to address the teachers and their friends at these meetings.

To Hold Exposition
The second will be a school exposition similar to one held in the Elgin gymnasium in February, 1919. In connection with this there will be an intensive campaign which will be known as good school week.

The third is a great outdoor pageant to be put on by the boys and girls of the high school and grades in commemoration of the Pilgrim fathers. It is planned to make the pageant similar to the Shakespearean pageant presented by the high school in 1916.

Would Aid Teachers
In this movement the advisory council is acting on the theory that the public school system should be part of the community life. It has been demonstrated that efficiency is

DOESN'T WANT FARM TO BECOME TOO RICH

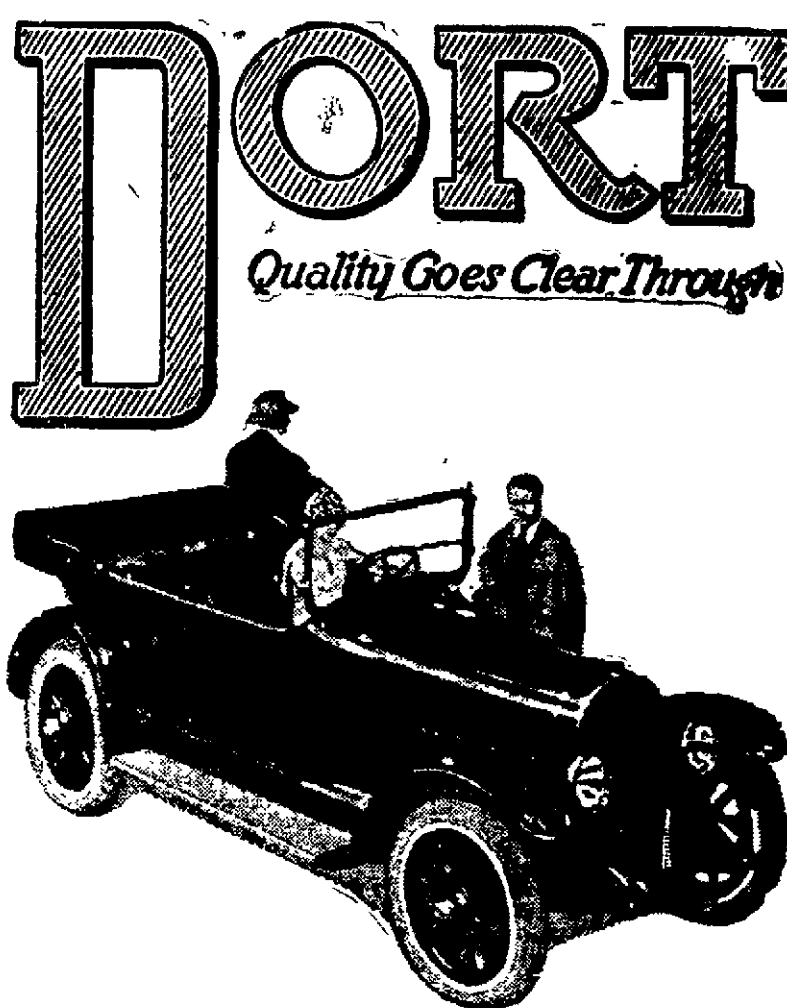

Meerill—A farm "too rich" in fertilizer is the L. Rupprecht dairy farm one mile west of the city limits. Of a total of 180 acres, the Rupprechts have 45 acres under plow, while their herd of 38 pure-bred Jersey cattle, producing an unusually rich yield of milk, testing from 8 to 8 per cent, will soon be increased to 45 head. In order to prevent the present plowed area from becoming too rich, the Rupprechts will clear 15 additional acres next spring. The farm management is largely centered in Mrs. L. Rupprecht, whose business ability has brought her many friends in the dairy world. The Rupprecht farm was hewed out 20 years ago by Mr. and Mrs. Rupprecht and even today is successfully operated by three hands, Mr. and Mrs. Rupprecht and their daughter, Sophie.

The advisory council also will undertake the correlation of the grade and high school work in English, the working out of a new course of study in arithmetic and a study of malnutrition and its effects.

Appoint Landis Umpire Of Organized Baseball

Baseball War Ends When Major Leaguers Reach Agreement in Chicago.

By United Press Leased Wire
Chicago.—Federal Judge K. M. Landis, today began his work as the "big umpire" of organized baseball.

Sixteen owners of major league baseball clubs after scrapping the twelve club league proposal and signing terms of peace, unanimously offered Judge Landis the control of baseball affairs for seven years at an annual salary of $42,500. Judge Landis will not resign from the bench.

The appointment of Judge Landis and the declaration of peace followed a four hour joint session of financial interests of the major leagues. Attorneys, league officials and others were excluded from the meeting. The action ends a baseball war declared last Monday.

Minor leagues have been requested to join with the majors under the Landis regime. A committee was appointed by the joint session to confer with a committee appointed by the minor leagues to effect a new national agreement. Sessions of these committees probably will begin shortly.

Judge Landis in accepting the new position said he was ready to start work immediately. Headquarters of the supreme court in baseball will be established in Chicago.

The question of voting, which was one cause of the breach in the major leagues was settled by a compromise. The club owners agreed the vote should be by individuals and if a division then occurred each league would cast a single vote. In event of a tie it was decided Judge Landis would make the final decision.

Presidents of the two leagues were selected as pleaders in all interleague matters coming before the baseball court and the court's decision, it was agreed, will be unreviewable.

Judge Landis is a national figure. For the important cases he has passed times humorous and sometimes caustic upon and his wit and sarcasm—sometimes humorous and sometimes caustic which he directs at prisoners and counsel from his bench have made him famous.

Baseball has always been one of his hobbies. In the little town of Logansport, Ind., where he was reared, the judge played on amateur and semi-professional teams. His brilliant playing brought him many offers to turn professional, but he always declined.

saying he played merely for sport and love of the game.

In 1911 Judge Landis presided in the legal battle which resulted from the fight of the Federal league against the National and American leagues. The judge never rendered a decision in this case, however, for it was settled out of court while he was still forming his official opinion. While studying the case, the judge spent many hours looking into baseball history, the national agreement and other documents giving information concerning baseball. The knowledge acquired during this period made him a legal authority on the administration of the game's affairs.

Judge Landis attends many major league games here every year and seldom misses a world's series. At the annual fall classic he generally may be found in a box back of third base, his old black slouch hat pulled down over his eyes, and a long black cape falling from his shoulders. He never talks during a game, but studies every play closely and analyzing strategy used by the opposing players. One of his hobbies at a game is to try to guess the next play.

APPLETON FANS LEAVE FOR GAME AT MADISON

Several dozen Appleton fans boarded the extra long train which left here about 1:30 o'clock this morning, bound for the Wisconsin-Illinois football game at Madison this afternoon. Several extra coaches were attached to the train to accommodate fans who are making the long trip to the capital city.

At least a half dozen automobile parties left Appleton this morning for the same place, indicating that fifty or more Appletonians will be in the stands when the big battle begins. It has been estimated that 20,000 people will see the game.

FOUR MEN RESCUED AFTER DRIFTING ON LAKE ERIE

By United Press Leased Wire
Buffalo, N. Y.—After a search of several hours in Lake Erie, near Port Colborne, Ont., today, four men adrift on two derelict scows were rescued from almost certain death by the United States coast guard crew from this port.

One of the scows went to the bottom in the rough seas last night. A southeast gale was blowing all night and high seas were running. The scows were being towed into this port to be put up for the winter by the tug Nellis, commanded by Captain Harry Coker of Cleveland. Coker said the tow line broke and his tug began taking water so that he had to make for Port Colborne.

Feud of the Callahans Will Be Renewed on Historic Nassau Field.

By Henry L. Farrell
Princeton, N. J.—Quiet old Nassau town was thronged today with legions of Princeton alumni. Yale followers and football fans gathering here for the forty-third annual gridiron battle between Yale and Princeton.

The Tigers were confident that Mike Callahan's squad was going to do something that Princeton hasn't done in twenty years—beat Yale two years in succession and they were offering odds of 3 to 2 on the jungle cats.

The center of attention every place she appeared was Mrs. Mary Callahan, mother of the two big captains of the opposing eleven—Captain Tim of Yale and Captain Mike of Princeton.

Last year she watched the battle of her two big boys from the Yale side of the field. This year she will witness the struggle from the Princeton stands but she will be strictly neutral, she said.

Princeton will start with the same team that tied Harvard last week. The backfield will consist of brilliant Don Laurie, the fleet Hank Garrity, Gilroy and the strong limbed punter Joe Scherer.

Yale, still suffering from the injuries that have beset the Blue all year, was unable to give the make-up of the eleven in advance.

A crowd of close to 50,000 seemed sure as all the seats in the stadium and the reserved seats have been sold.

MITCHELL KNOCKS OUT BENJAMIN IN NINTH

Milwaukee.—Rennie Mitchell stopped Joe Benjamin in the ninth round of a scheduled ten round bout here last night. A wicked chop to the chin dropped the coast star to the canvas about thirty seconds after the ball sent them on their way in the ninth.

In the preliminaries, Bud Christino shaded Tony Dennis in ten rounds; Walter Graylock stopped Johnny Harzog in one round, and George Arrah shaded Jimmy Brown in four rounds.

PHONOGRAPHS AND RECORDS
What music lovers discovered in the Brunswick Method of Reproduction

WHEN all is said and done, when every comparison is made, final judgment of any phonograph rests in the tone. All else is secondary.
And it is in this important particular that the Brunswick Phonograph won its fame.
Its cabinet work was taken for granted as of the finest, for the House of Brunswick has been noted for its craftsmanship in wood-working for 76 years.
A surprise for all
What a revelation, however, came when music lovers became acquainted with The Brunswick! Old harshness is gone.
Much of the improvement is due to the Brunswick Tone Amplifier, built entirely of selected, seasoned wood.
Another great advancement, and exclusively Brunswick today, is the Ultona, an all-record reproducer.
These and other advancements have been combined and related in an instrument made entirely by the House of Brunswick.
Proof of the superiority of Brunswick Phonographs is coming in, hearing them and making comparisons.

MARKETS

WHEAT PRICE IS ABOUT THE SAME

Market Rallies at Start, But Declines Sharply in Later Trading.

By United Press Leased Wire

Chicago — Grain prices dropped sharply on the Chicago board of trade prior to the close today after a good rally at the opening of the market. The increase in quotations in early trading was due largely to export demand for wheat with light offerings. Later when considerable selling pressure came into the market, prices sagged.

Provisions were irregular. December wheat opened up four at $1.52 and closed off 2. March wheat at 1.72 was up 3/4 at the opening but dropped 2 at the close.

December corn after opening up 1/4 at 75 1/2, lost 1/4 at the close. May corn opened up 1 at 80 1/2 and lost 1 at the close.

December oats after opening up half at 45 1/2, closed down 3/4. May oats was up 1/4 at the opening, subsequently losing 1/4.

EXPECT MANY AT RED CROSS SHOW

Two Evening Performances Are Planned in Addition to Exhibits.

Two performances of the Red Cross community show will be given at the armory Saturday evening, the first from 7:30 to 8:30 o'clock and the second from 8:30 to 9:30 o'clock. There is to be no admission charge and a large attendance is anticipated.

The committee were busy Saturday morning and early afternoon arranging the exhibits. The state Red Cross exhibit sent by the Central Division of Chicago is said to be especially interesting. Many facts and figures from Outagamie county's social welfare work will also be shown.

A moving picture, "Your Brother's Keeper" is to be shown at each performance, together with a play, the "Greatest Mother" by pupils of the first ward school, and a first aid demonstration by boy scouts.

ASSESSMENTS ARE NEAR TRUE VALUE

Assessor of Incomes Declares That Equitable Assessment Is His Aim.

"Assessments are being brought up to the state standard as required by law," says J. A. Lonsdorf, assessor of incomes in his annual report to the county board. "The reports for several years show that assessors have each year come nearer to the actual worth of property," he said.

"According to the figures, our county is now assessed at 94 per cent of its true value. Careful study of this year's report and those of the preceding years will convince us that standard assessments do not increase taxes or prejudice the equalization."

"Only the levy of taxes by tax raising bodies for public expenditures can raise our taxes. If the assessments are just and equitable. To make just and equitable assessments as between individual taxpayers in each district and to equalize fairly between the districts is our aim and problem."

"In this work, this office and the state tax commission are ever ready to help and to cooperate with assessors, board of review and the county board of supervisors."

Instead of being swamped with work as is usually the case they completed their duties before noon and aside from waiting on patrons had very little to do during the afternoon. Only two deeds were recorded and they concerned property in the town of Oneida.

Margaret Abrams sold a small parcel of land to Gilbert Parkhurst and Gilbert Parkhurst sold a small parcel to F. K. Hill. In signing the deed Mrs. Parkhurst used her finger print.

SEEK BOND ISSUE TO AID HIGHWAYS

Road Officials Want to Keep Up Building Program—Meet Again Monday.

It is understood at the courthouse that an effort will be made to secure a bond issue for a continuation of highway improvement the coming year before the county board adjourns, but just how much support it will have is a matter of conjecture. No definite amount will be asked.

It has been conceded by contractors that the county saved over $1,000,000 by buildings its cement roads when it did, and it is also quite generally conceded that next year will be another good building year. No announcement
